

Since 2005 Propaganda Music Canteen has been independently owned and a lifestyle choice for many when choosing a night out. Often copied but never equalled, we cross music genres and style and don't differentiate on the grounds of age, sex, the colour of your hair or who you may care to fall in love with. We accept that it is not for everyone, but anyone. It's about getting together with a group of friends, family or people you work with and taking a little time out together. Good food, music, drink and lively conversation. Good times!

We like to think we offer something for all and this is even more important as we approach the festive season and embrace the office party.

We are often asked about our restrictions on age and dress code. Generally speaking we cater to the mindset of a 25 year old plus clientele. Subject to licensing, those who are over 18 are welcome, accepting the environment is more adult in nature than some other local places. In regards to dress code; It's a night out, make a bit of an effort but in general terms it's smart - casual, but this will always be open to different interpretation at different times of the week. We may refuse admission if you're not right, but no offence is intended.

We offer table service as standard and make no charge to reserve areas for you and your guests.
